Cheekwood was built as the family home of Mabel and Leslie Cheek between 1929 and 1932. The original three-story, 55-room house, additional buildings (including a multi-car garage and stable), and surrounding landscape were designed by architect Bryant Fleming of New York. Cheekwood is considered one of the finest American Country Place Era Estates in the nation due to its sweeping vistas overlooking Percy Warner Park.

The Cheeks envisioned their home to be an authentic revival of the 18th-Century English architectural style known as Georgian. The Cheeks traveled to England with their architect to study historic country houses and acquire authentic furnishings, fine art, and architectural elements that were then used in the development of Cheekwood. The result was an estate characterized by old world charm, yet outfitted with every modern convenience.

The Frist Learning Center is Cheekwood's hub of education, exploration, and discovery, and is the site of art activities, classes, camps, and more. Visitors may learn about the family's equestrian activities in the Historic Stable, Tack Room and Courtyard. Renovated in 2018, the building also houses Café 29, open daily from 9 am to 4 pm, and a Garden Gift Shop.

Cheekwood is a smoke-free environment. Use of all tobacco products, including e-cigarettes, is prohibited on Cheekwood grounds and in buildings.

The Carell Woodland Sculpture Trail

The Frist Learning Center

Cheekwood was built as the family home of Mabel and Leslie Cheek between 1929 and 1932. The original three-story, 55-room house, additional buildings (including a multi-car garage and stable), and surrounding landscape were designed by architect Bryant Fleming of New York. Cheekwood is considered one of the finest American Country Place Era Estates in the nation due to its sweeping vistas overlooking Percy Warner Park.

The Cheeks envisioned their home to be an authentic revival of the 18th-Century English architectural style known as Georgian. The Cheeks traveled to England with their architect to study historic country houses and acquire authentic furnishings, fine art, and architectural elements that were then used in the development of Cheekwood. The result was an estate characterized by old world charm, yet outfitted with every modern convenience.

The Frist Learning Center is Cheekwood's hub of education, exploration, and discovery, and is the site of art activities, classes, camps, and more. Visitors may learn about the family's equestrian activities in the Historic Stable, Tack Room and Courtyard. Renovated in 2018, the building also houses Café 29, open daily from 9 am to 4 pm, and a Garden Gift Shop.

Cheekwood is a smoke-free environment. Use of all tobacco products, including e-cigarettes, is prohibited on Cheekwood grounds and in buildings.

The Carell Woodland Sculpture Trail

The Frist Learning Center

Cheekwood was built as the family home of Mabel and Leslie Cheek between 1929 and 1932. The original three-story, 55-room house, additional buildings (including a multi-car garage and stable), and surrounding landscape were designed by architect Bryant Fleming of New York. Cheekwood is considered one of the finest American Country Place Era Estates in the nation due to its sweeping vistas overlooking Percy Warner Park.

The Cheeks envisioned their home to be an authentic revival of the 18th-Century English architectural style known as Georgian. The Cheeks traveled to England with their architect to study historic country houses and acquire authentic furnishings, fine art, and architectural elements that were then used in the development of Cheekwood. The result was an estate characterized by old world charm, yet outfitted with every modern convenience.

The Frist Learning Center is Cheekwood's hub of education, exploration, and discovery, and is the site of art activities, classes, camps, and more. Visitors may learn about the family's equestrian activities in the Historic Stable, Tack Room and Courtyard. Renovated in 2018, the building also houses Café 29, open daily from 9 am to 4 pm, and a Garden Gift Shop.

Cheekwood is a smoke-free environment. Use of all tobacco products, including e-cigarettes, is prohibited on Cheekwood grounds and in buildings.

The Carell Woodland Sculpture Trail

The Frist Learning Center

Cheekwood was built as the family home of Mabel and Leslie Cheek between 1929 and 1932. The original three-story, 55-room house, additional buildings (including a multi-car garage and stable), and surrounding landscape were designed by architect Bryant Fleming of New York. Cheekwood is considered one of the finest American Country Place Era Estates in the nation due to its sweeping vistas overlooking Percy Warner Park.

The Cheeks envisioned their home to be an authentic revival of the 18th-Century English architectural style known as Georgian. The Cheeks traveled to England with their architect to study historic country houses and acquire authentic furnishings, fine art, and architectural elements that were then used in the development of Cheekwood. The result was an estate characterized by old world charm, yet outfitted with every modern convenience.

The Frist Learning Center is Cheekwood's hub of education, exploration, and discovery, and is the site of art activities, classes, camps, and more. Visitors may learn about the family's equestrian activities in the Historic Stable, Tack Room and Courtyard. Renovated in 2018, the building also houses Café 29, open daily from 9 am to 4 pm, and a Garden Gift Shop.

Cheekwood is a smoke-free environment. Use of all tobacco products, including e-cigarettes, is prohibited on Cheekwood grounds and in buildings.

The Carell Woodland Sculpture Trail

The Frist Learning Center

Cheekwood was built as the family home of Mabel and Leslie Cheek between 1929 and 1932. The original three-story, 55-room house, additional buildings (including a multi-car garage and stable), and surrounding landscape were designed by architect Bryant Fleming of New York. Cheekwood is considered one of the finest American Country Place Era Estates in the nation due to its sweeping vistas overlooking Percy Warner Park.

The Cheeks envisioned their home to be an authentic revival of the 18th-Century English architectural style known as Georgian. The Cheeks traveled to England with their architect to study historic country houses and acquire authentic furnishings, fine art, and architectural elements that were then used in the development of Cheekwood. The result was an estate characterized by old world charm, yet outfitted with every modern convenience.

The Frist Learning Center is Cheekwood's hub of education, exploration, and discovery, and is the site of art activities, classes, camps, and more. Visitors may learn about the family's equestrian activities in the Historic Stable, Tack Room and Courtyard. Renovated in 2018, the building also houses Café 29, open daily from 9 am to 4 pm, and a Garden Gift Shop.

Cheekwood is a smoke-free environment. Use of all tobacco products, including e-cigarettes, is prohibited on Cheekwood grounds and in buildings.